Welcome to the Provider Dashboard Demo. This Dashboard has been designed to demonstrate some of the interactive things you can do in a custom mPage. For example, this message was originally entered through this mPage and saved to the Cerner back-end via a CCL script for later retrieval as a public message.

Security has been built in to allow managers to assume the identity of their staff. This does not allow a manager to sign or edit documents on behalf of their staff but rather allows a manager the ability to see what their staff has outstanding.

The screenshot shows the PowerChart Organizer interface for John Simpson. The main window displays the 'Provider Dashboard' with the 'Alerts & Messages' tab selected. The dashboard includes a sidebar with navigation options like 'Dashboard Summary (Home)', 'Orders to Sign', and 'Documents to Sign'. The main content area shows a 'Welcome to the Provider Dashboard' message and a 'Saved Documents' alert. A callout box points to the alert, explaining that alerts are categorized by type and age, with the example showing one alert less than 36 hours old.

The Alerts and Messages tab has two sections of content. The first section identifies alerts that a Physician should address. These alerts are categorized by type and age. In the example above, the only alert is less than 36 hours old. If there were additional alerts greater than 36 hours, they would be categorized with yellow or red depending on whether they are greater than 72 hours or not.

Summary

In summary, this slide show demonstrates that mPages can easily be developed to both integrate with existing PowerChart functionality as well as any data located in the Cerner back-end through CCL scripts.

In addition to retrieving data from Cerner through CCL, it is also useful and possible to store custom data in Cerner through an mPage and CCL. In this mPage example, not only were user preferences stored on the back-end, but also large content text messages.

With my skill in CCL and web development technologies, the possibilities to what can be developed in an mPage are endless.

Thank you.

John Simpson
